--Tanuki ♡

Oda: What?! Tanuki?! I get it, this is written in "tanukese"!
All right, let's try reading it without the "ta's"...
"Hello, Oda Sensei. ♡ Is this hard to read?
Well, let's Begin Question Corner!!" How's that?!
Anyway, IT'S ALREADY BEGUN! ⚡

Q: Which is faster? Captain Kuro's "Cat-out-of-the-bag Attack" or CP9's "Shave"?

Please tell me. --Nikuou (Meat King)

A: Yes, I received many questions about this.
Captain Kuro's "Cat-out-of-the-Bag"
(as seen in volume 5) was quite frightening. Speedwise, they're about the same.
However, when Captain Kuro uses his technique, he's so fast he can't see who he's attacking, so that's his weakness.
However, CP9 can control their speed and remain aware of their surroundings.
For that reason, if they were in a Battle,
CP9 would win hands down.

Q: Hello, Oda Sensei!! In volume 38, you said that when answers don't come to you during a test to write the word "instrumental."
So I really tried it. But when I got my test back, the answers were marked wrong. Why were they marked wrong? Please tell me, Oda Sensei!

--Katsufumi Four!!

A: The test results are not the point. The courage of doing it is its own reward. (<-- ?)

A: I see. All right! Now Sniper King!! Solve this for them!!

SK: Ah...you seem troubled. You'll die without me, you say? Never fear! I'm not going anywhere! After all, as I always say..."Sniper Island is in your heart"!

A: Okay, okay. That's enough. On to the next question.

SK: What do you mean, "that's enough"? ♪

A: Okay, okay, okay.

Q: I have a question, Oda Sensei. The waitress Gatherine, who turned down Jabra on volume 40, page 36 (Chapter 379: Power Level)... What type of guys does she like? Or does she already have a boyfriend? I can't sleep at night when I think about this...

--Recycle Shogun

A: It seems Gatherine, the idol of Enies Lobby, has an unrequited love. This is what she said when she turned down Jabra: "I'm sorry. I love Lucci!! After all, a man's face is everything!" Countless men have suffered an honorable defeat by Gatherine's pure love. Hang in there, Jabra!

A: Okay. Let's keep 'em coming. Need Salt Faction

Q: Hello, Oda Sensei! This is a serious question. One Piece has been running for quite some time, right? Have you thought of bringing it to an end? Personally, I want it to continue forever. One Piece is the best!!!

--From Mac

A: I answered this question during some interview, But One Piece was originally to be a five-year story. I've always had the last chapter clear in my mind, But it's taken longer than five years to build up the storyline. (Ha ha ha!) And so, the pirates have been on a nine-year adventure, and I don't know how much longer it will take. ("Hey!")

Q: Hello, Odacci. Last month, I bought the video game One Piece: Pirates' Carnival. So here is my question...

A: Hey!!! ⚡ Is that it?! Where's your question?!!

Q: In a Question Corner in volume 41, you talked about Wanze's goggles, remember? Actually, you tear up when chopping onions because of an ingredient that goes up your nose. So wearing goggles has no effect. So please tell Wanze, "When you chop onions, stuff your goggles into your nostrils."

--Home Ec Year One Student

A: I see. So that's it. He messed up!
That crazy Wanze! Point taken. Thank you!

Q: Hello, Oda Sensei. It's nice to meet you, I always enjoy reading One Piece. Anyway, here's a kind of serious question. In class the other day, I learned that the word "Rob" means "to steal." That got me curious, and I looked up "Lucci" (lucchi) and found out that it means "light" in Italian. Together, they become "steal the light." It hit me very hard as I realized that, throughout the entire story, the verb "to steal" plays a very important part in One Piece. So did you name him from the start knowing that?

--Reflect

A: Uh... Uh... Well. Uh-huh. Y-Y...Yes. (anxiousness) You know me. I always come up with names that have deep meanings. Yup. I sure do. "ROB Lucci" means "to steal the light," or so I hear. (<-- I didn't know)

Q: I am Miss Sniper King, and I support good health for young boys. ♡ This is for all the healthy boys throughout this country!! Remember in volume 41's Question Corner, there was a question about Nami's cup size?! According to my scope, Nami's underbust size is 65. From that, I calculated that her bust size is 95, which makes her an I-cup!!! (DOOM!!) That's huge!!! Personally, I'm a D-cup... Boys... Are you satisfied??

A: Well, regarding this matter, I received many answers from my female readers. Thank you for your detailed analysis and explanations. But young BOYS won't read complicated explanations, so let me sum up the consensus: Nami and Robin are BOTH I-cups! Wow!

Q: Okay, here's a question. In volume 41, page 170, panel 5, Olvia and the others are throwing out books, and one of the books is called Brag Men! Isn't that the book that Nami was looking for on volume 13, page 142?! Isn't it?! Isn't it?! ...All right, I asked three times. If I'm wrong, I'll "ding dong ditch" one hundred houses as punishment.

--Soge Queen

↑ Volume 41

A: Oh. I'm surprised. Thank you for reading so deeply into the story. That's amazing. You're right. It's that BOOK which had information about Little Garden, the "island of giants". Brag Men (as in "liars," "men who brag") is the title of this world-famous BOOK, a BOOK about "Adventures on the Grand Line." It records what the seafarers saw... all the unbelievable islands, mysterious people and occurrences of the sea, and things which most people around the world don't believe for an instant; they just laugh at them. When one thinks that this BOOK was among those which the scholars in Ohara sacrificed their lives to protect, a warm feeling wells up inside me. And are these "Brag men" really liars? Please answer this question yourselves by reading about the adventures of Luffy and his gang. All right then, see you in next volume's Question Corner!

言葉はうまく伝承されないから、
古語と現代語があるんだと思います。
平安時代のある人の日記には、
「最近の若者は言葉遣いになってない」
と書いてあるそうです。
嘆きだけは正確に伝承されてるのが
面白いので、僕も年とつたら
言おうと思います。
